

Outline

Open with impact: Anecdote about my first encounter with a transgender female.
Reveal Topic: Today we will be talking about the controversial topic of Transgender restroom rights.

History/ Background: (source) I will give a timeline of how the transgender rights developed.

Connect to Audience: (source) Transgender individuals are $\frac{1}{3}$ of the US Adult Population, and every adult has the right to go to a public restroom.

Preview Statement: MJ and Mahmo will talk about the cons, for example how it's against the first amendment and how it'll increase sexual assault. Luis and Justice will talk about the pros, for example how it'll decrease sexual assault and how everything must be equal.

Transition: MJ will now be talking about a con that some people have been saying.

This is my part

Transition:

III. (Justice)

A. Obama is passing a bill requiring all high schools in the country to have single stall bathrooms that are not sex-oriented. In order to allow transexual students have a place in which they feel safe from judgment.

B. Statistically, if transgenders were forced to enter a bathroom of the opposite sex there would be an increase in sexual assault possibility. This bathroom situation causes uncomfortable situations for both trans and non trans people in the bathroom.

C. It is simply common sense to let people go to the bathroom where they feel the most comfortable. When we subject people to these awkward situations it only makes everyone's lives harder.

Transition: Now Yarin will be talking about...

Compromise: Transitions from just male and female bathrooms. To making all bathrooms gender neutral to avoid conflict. Discussion about problem and solutions that may arise. For example people recording and placing bathroom cameras.

Summary: We have discussed the cons; which were the religious right, threats to the public, biased views from many clinicians and states. We also have discussed the pros, which include, the threat it poses to transgenders and Obama's' bill proposal. Furthermore we discussed the compromise to just make all bathrooms unisex.

Close with impact: Ending it with a quote from George Clooney, "At some point in our lifetime, LGBT rights won't be an issue and everyone who stood against these civil rights will look as outdated as George Wallace..."
